FOREWORD

Simon Coveney, TD, Minister for Housing, Planning, Community and Local Government

I’m pleased to publish this second quarterly implementation report under our Action Plan for Housing and Homelessness, Rebuilding Ireland. Developments in the rental sector and in tackling homelessness have been very much to the fore since our first implementation report under the Plan in November 2016.

In terms of the rental sector, the Government has clearly recognised the sector is broken and is not working for either tenants or landlords. Within 100 days of taking up my role as Minister for Housing I published Rebuilding Ireland, in which I identified the rental sector as one of the key pillars of the housing system. I committed to the publication of a comprehensive strategy for the rental sector before the end of 2016 and delivered on that, publishing the strategy on 13 December 2016.

The strategy and the recommendations it contains are structured around 4 key areas: security, supply, standards and services. What the strategy aims to do is set out a vision for the role we want the sector to play over the short, medium and long term through a range of ambitious measures we will pursue in partnership with stakeholders and agencies in the housing arena. The new system of rent pressure zones has attracted significant attention. As a measure to specifically tackle rising rents, this is a rent predictability initiative intended to moderate the rise in rents in the parts of the country where rents are highest and rising fastest - where households have greatest difficulties in finding accommodation they can afford. In these areas, called Rent Pressure Zones, rents will only be able to rise by a maximum of 4% annually.

Implementation of the strategy got underway immediately with Dublin and Cork City being designated as Rent Pressure Zones before Christmas. Since then, rents in those areas are now tied to the 4% rule. I recently made further designations in local electoral areas in Galway City, Wicklow, Kildare, Meath and Cork County. As of the end of January, approximately 55% of all tenancies are covered by the rent predictability measure, providing much needed certainty for tenants and landlords over the coming years. The challenge now is to address the supply deficit that clearly exists in these areas through the comprehensive suite of supply side measures set out in Rebuilding Ireland.
We also continued to ramp up efforts to tackle homelessness in the last quarter of 2016. This remains the top priority for me and will be one of the core measures of the success of Rebuilding Ireland as a national plan of action.

Three new and one upgraded homelessness facilities at a total cost of €6.1 million were opened in Dublin in December. These provided over 200 additional emergency beds, bringing the overall total of emergency beds available in Dublin to more than 1,800. We have seen some positive trends in homelessness statistics of late with the number of homeless families appearing to stabilise and the numbers of children in emergency accommodation decreasing. The early phase of the Housing Agency programme for the acquisition of vacant properties using €70m in Exchequer funding, which will deliver close to 200 additional homes in the coming months, and the continuing creation of homeless HAP tenancies, which proved particularly successful in 2016, are hugely important interventions that will continue to be central features in tackling homelessness in 2017.

The positive trends that these actions have facilitated are welcome and I expect that rent moderation in Rent Pressure Zones will help continue this progress by reducing the number of households and individuals becoming homeless in the first place. However, the numbers in emergency accommodation underline the scale of the challenge and the need for vigilance in pursuing the objectives set out in Rebuilding Ireland.

We must harness the 40% increase in homeless funding from €70 million in 2016 to €98 million in 2017 to ensure that the increased demand for emergency homeless services is effectively addressed and delivers solutions for the maximum number of homeless households.

Looking beyond these 2 priority areas, there are further positive signs. For example:

- In excess of 18,000 households/individuals had their social housing needs met in 2016, ahead of the target of just over 17,000.
- As part of this overall delivery, we built, purchased or refurbished some 5,300 homes in 2016 - around 1,000 over the target for the year.
- 12,000 HAP tenancies were created last year.
- 100 families were accommodated under RAS.
- Planning permission was granted for over 16,000 new homes in the year to end September 2016 (an increase of 45% on the preceding 12 months).
- 14,932 new homes completed during 2016, an increase of 18% on 2015 (12,666).

The Action Plan is only 6 months old but already important signs of progress are emerging. I expect these trends to continue and accelerate over the course of 2017 - the first full year of implementation of the Plan - but that can only happen if we continue to collectively put our shoulders to the wheel in tackling the greatest challenge our country faces.

PROGRESS OVERVIEW

Introduction

This is the Second Quarterly Progress Report under the Government’s Rebuilding Ireland: Action Plan for Housing and Homelessness, published on 19 July 2016, covering developments and implementation progress across a range of actions across the 5 Pillars in the last Quarter of 2016, while also looking forward to key priorities and outputs scheduled for delivery between now and the end of March 2017.

The initial Plan comprised 84 actions, for implementation by DHPCLG, local authorities, other Departments and State Agencies and other stakeholders, across five key pillar areas: Addressing Homelessness, Accelerating Social Housing, Building More Homes, Improving the Rental Sector and Utilising Existing Housing.

The recent publication of the Government’s Strategy for the Rental Sector on 13 December 2016 adds a further 29 actions to the original 84 actions and all 113 actions will now be reported on under these quarterly progress reports.

As committed to under Rebuilding Ireland, DHPCLG has developed a Monthly Housing Activity Report which charts current activity levels across a number of key indicators, including planning permissions, housing commencements and housing completions.

The first edition of this report is now available on www.rebuildingireland.ie. All of the key indicators confirm that the upward trend in housing activity evident in recent times is gaining momentum and, having regard to wider economic growth projections and the increasing level of planning permissions in particular, should continue to gather pace and result in higher levels of output in 2017 and beyond.

The key overarching objective under Rebuilding Ireland is to ensure that the overall supply of new housing increases to some 25,000 homes annually by 2020. In that regard, the graph at Figure 1 below shows the rolling annual total for housing completions by month during 2015 and 2016. Connections to the ESB grid have long been used as a proxy for housing completions and there were 14,932 homes given such connections during 2016, compared to 12,666 in 2015. Of the 14,932 homes completed in 2016, 6,289 are in the Greater Dublin Area and 8,643 across the rest of the country. While the graph shows an encouraging trend it also underlines the continuing challenge that faces the State, housing providers, funding institutions and all other relevant stakeholders in terms of adding to the momentum now in evidence so that housing delivery reaches the target level of 25,000 homes per annum in the shortest possible timeframe. Increasing the rate of housing delivery across the social, private and rental tenures in order to ensure that current and emerging needs are met, and in particular in our cities and large towns, where the demand for new homes is greatest, remains the key to the overall success of the programme.

Throughout the Fourth Quarter of 2016, DHPCLG and other Departments and Agencies have continued to maintain and build upon the strong early implementation momentum and have secured the following key achievements which will have a significant ongoing impact on our capacity to meet current and emerging housing needs:

- A total of 18,380 social housing supports were provided to people on the housing waiting list in 2016, with expenditure of €935 million on housing during the year. This exceeded the target of 17,240 for 2016, giving a very positive start to the challenge of meeting the ambitious targets in Rebuilding Ireland. By the end of the year, some 1,500 new social units had been completed or were on site under construction, again marking clearly the progress that is being made in the pipeline of new social housing construction and delivery.

- The Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) Homeless pilot in Dublin has seen the creation of 810 stable and supported housing tenancies for long-term homeless individuals by Q4 of 2016 (significantly exceeding the target of 550 tenancies). HAP for Homelessness represents a new way forward in providing a timely and flexible way of breaking the cycle of homelessness for families and individuals and reducing long-term reliance on emergency accommodation.

- The Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) was introduced to nine further local authorities with effect from 1 December 2016: Cavan, Kerry, Laois, Leitrim, Longford, Roscommon, Westmeath, Wexford and Wicklow and 12,075 HAP tenancies were set-up in 2016, meeting the scheme’s target for the year. At the end of 2016, 16,493 households were being supported by HAP.

- Rapid Delivery Social Housing is another key tool in ending the reliance on emergency accommodation for homeless families. At the end of 2016, a total of 350 rapid build homes were advancing through various stages of delivery, including construction, with 22 rapid build homes being delivered and occupied in 2016. The Office of Government Procurement’s Rapid Delivery Procurement Framework Agreement is now in place. This paves the way for the provision of 1,500 homes during 2017 and 2018 suitable for families presenting as homeless, the early phase of which will support the ending of the reliance on commercial hotels for such families by mid-2017.

- A review of the Mortgage to Rent scheme was completed and new improved and streamlined arrangements will facilitate more households in long-term mortgage arrears to remain in their homes.

- Three new and one upgraded Emergency Accommodation facilities were delivered in December 2016, which provide an additional 206 bed spaces for those who need them.
In terms of increasing housing supply, 23 Major Urban Housing Development Sites (MUHDS) with the capacity to deliver 30,000 new homes in the medium term in the Greater Dublin Area, Cork, Limerick and Galway have been identified by DHPCLG, in close collaboration with local authorities and the Department’s new Housing Delivery Office. Progress on these development sites is being proactively monitored by the Housing Delivery Office, with a view to ensuring these sites become exemplars for the coordination and accelerated delivery of plan-led housing development and active land management.

There was keen interest in the Local Infrastructure Housing Activation Funding (LIHAF) with applications from 21 local authorities, covering 74 separate infrastructure projects. While assessment and approval decisions have taken a little longer than anticipated, given the scale and complexity of some of the proposals which require financial appraisals (e.g. multi-criteria analysis and cost benefit analysis), there will be an announcement of grants under LIHAF by March 2017. Significant enabling infrastructure works on key strategic sites around our major urban areas will commence in earnest as the year progresses, with procurement and other preparatory works being managed effectively to avoid any delay on project timescales.

The Strategy for the Rental Sector, published on 13 December 2016, is a major milestone in providing a vision and coordinated plan for the development of a stable, strong and viable rental sector, offering clarity, security, true choice for households, investment opportunities for providers and reflecting the rights and responsibilities of tenants and landlords.

The Help to Buy Incentive Scheme, announced by the Minister for Finance in Budget 2017, will encourage an increasing supply of new homes between now and the end of December 2019. The scheme allows first-time buyers, who take out a mortgage to purchase or self-build their own home, a refund of income tax and DIRT paid over the previous four tax years, up to a maximum amount of €20,000, thereby assisting with the deposit. This will create realisable demand and will encourage developers to increase new housing supply.

The Planning and Development (Housing) and Residential Tenancies Act 2016, which was enacted on 23 December 2016, provides for large-scale housing development proposals to be submitted directly to An Bord Pleanála, while also enabling other important streamlining of the planning processes and new rent predictability measures under the Rental Strategy, such as the establishment of Rent Pressure Zones, and measures to protect tenants when the owner wishes to sell multiple units in a single development and extending the duration of tenancies.

All six actions recorded as incomplete during the previous Quarterly Progress Report have since been fully implemented and are now complete.
GOVERNANCE, CONSULTATION, COMMUNICATIONS AND ENGAGEMENT

Governance

The Governance Arrangements in place to drive and oversee the implementation of the plan, including the Cabinet Committee, chaired by An Taoiseach, and the Rebuilding Ireland Implementation Group of senior Departmental officials, chaired by the Secretary General, have been further strengthened in Quarter 4 of 2016.

A key addition has been the development of project working group structures overseen by a Rebuilding Ireland Oversight Group, chaired by Minister Coveney, which convened in November 2016, and a Project Board, convened in December 2016. The Oversight Group and Project Board formations will continue to meet quarterly to ensure that all key stakeholders are actively involved in drawing together the project work being undertaken across the five pillars.
The main aim of the Consultation, Communication and Engagement Strategy is to ensure that the momentum for implementation is maintained throughout the life of the Action Plan.

The successful implementation of Rebuilding Ireland relies on the engagement and active participation of a wide range of stakeholders and it is vital that stakeholders and the wider public are fully aware of the commitments, understand the range of initiatives and actions being rolled out and can access relevant and up-to-date information on progress. Key elements of the Consultation, Communications and Engagement Strategy include the following:

- Rebuilding Ireland Website and Social Media

  The dedicated website www.rebuildingireland.ie continues to provide regular updates on the implementation of Rebuilding Ireland and to keep the public informed of key developments in relation to the five pillars. In addition to the standard provision of text and graphic information to view and download, the website facilitates engagement with the general public through the use of video presentations. Social media platforms are in use to disseminate implementation and progress updates quickly to key target audiences and to extend the reach of the overall programme.

- Stakeholder Consultation

  A stakeholder consultation event to inform the development of the Strategy for the Rental Sector took place on 20 October 2016 attracting over 100 attendees. In addition, a public consultation process, with an open call for submissions, attracted 498 responses from a wide range of stakeholders resulting in a valuable, comprehensive and informative overall contribution to the formulation of policy for the rental sector.

  A series of similar events will take place in the coming months in the context of the preparation of Ireland 2040 - A National Planning Framework.

  More broadly-based Stakeholder Forums on Housing and Homelessness are planned for 2017, and will provide a valuable means of feedback on the practical experience of implementation and of engagement in relation to future policy formulation.
Pillars Specific launches

Focussed launches on Build More Homes (Pillar 3) and Improve the Rental Sector (Pillar 4) have taken place on 10 November 2016 and 13 December 2016, respectively.

The Build More Homes Pillar 3 launch aimed to set out how Government and Industry will work collaboratively to kick-start badly needed additional supply, through a concerted series of actions involving prioritising progress, assisted by the Housing Delivery Office, on 23 identified Major Urban Housing Development Sites, targeting the provision of strategic enabling infrastructure, and streamlining and reforming the planning process. The direct involvement of housing providers at this launch made for a very compelling event that has helped to galvanise and strengthen the new found momentum that is now beginning to emerge in the house-building sector. Their informative presentations are available under Pillar 3 on www.rebuildingireland.ie.

The launch of Pillar 4 - A Strategy for the Rental Sector on 13 December 2016 provided an opportunity to set out a vision for the development of a stable, strong and viable rental sector offering true choice for households, investment opportunities for providers and reflecting the rights and responsibilities of tenants and landlords. The Strategy is underpinned by an action plan centred around the four critical areas of security, supply, standards and services.

The fifth and final pillar launch (Utilise Existing Housing) will take place during Q1 of 2017.

Local/Regional Stakeholder Events

Recognising that the delivery of new homes and improved supports and services ultimately relies on local stakeholders, Minister Coveney and the Minister of State for Housing and Urban Renewal, Damien English, TD, have embarked on a further series of local authority hosted regional events. Recent visits have included Leitrim/Roscommon and Kerry. These events, which will continue to be organised, stimulate and encourage active involvement by key stakeholders – LAs, AHBs, house builders, interest and advocacy groups – at local and regional level with a view to ensuring effective collaborative working to secure the best housing outcomes, grasping the opportunities now available under the Rebuilding Ireland programme. Ministers also continue to meet with local authority members and Chief Executives with recent meetings having included the Cavan, Kerry, Laois, Louth, Longford, Mayo, Meath and Monaghan local authority areas.
DELIVERY ON ACTIONS DUE DURING QUARTER 4 2016

This section reports on progress on a total of 56 actions across the five Pillars which includes 46 actions for which an outcome or substantial progress was required in Quarter 4 of 2016, a further four new actions included in the recently published Strategy for the Rental Sector and six actions reported as incomplete during Quarter 3 of 2016.

The summary status of each action is given as:

- Complete: where delivery is on-time and complete
- On Schedule: where delivery during Quarter 4 of 2016 is complete and the ongoing implementation remains on schedule
- Incomplete: where delivery is behind schedule but will be completed in the near future.
A brief summary of the progress achieved under each action is also given.

All six actions reported as incomplete in the First Quarterly Progress Report have been completed during Quarter 4 of 2016.

Overall, of the 50 actions targeted for delivery during the fourth quarter of 2016, 41 have been completed or progressed significantly, in line with commitments and timelines outlined in Rebuilding Ireland.

While 9 actions due for delivery in Quarter 4 remain incomplete or are behind schedule, in each case significant progress has been made and it is now anticipated that 5 of these actions will be completed or be on schedule in the First Quarter of 2017 and all will be completed during 2017.
Current Context

Early solutions to homelessness, through increasing the supply of homes and preventing future homelessness by supporting persons to stay in their existing homes, are a key and urgent priority under Rebuilding Ireland. This is demonstrated by the frontloading of actions under Pillar 1, 14 of which were set for delivery in Quarter 4 of 2016.

The numbers of people in State funded emergency accommodation overseen by housing authorities in December are as follows:

- 4,643 adult individuals;
- 1,205 families are included in this total;
- 2,505 dependents are associated with these families;
- 7,148 people in total (adults and dependents).

While there have been ongoing increases in overall levels of homelessness, it is important to recognise the significant work being done by housing authorities and their delivery partners in the approved housing body sector in providing solutions.

In this regard, during the course of 2016 housing authorities assisted in delivering approximately 2,700 sustainable exits from homelessness into independent tenancies (e.g. into social housing, supported rental accommodation or AHB tenancy). This is a record level of exits from homelessness in a single year. By way of comparison, 2,322 sustainable exits were achieved in 2015, while the 2014 figure was 2,161. This work has contributed to the stabilisation of the numbers of homeless families.

Nevertheless, the increase in the overall numbers experiencing homelessness since the launch of Rebuilding Ireland is an on-going reminder of the imperative for action. It is critical that this record level of exits is again surpassed in 2017 and that comprehensive, well-resourced actions are in place to achieve this.

Rebuilding Ireland has set a very clear target on homelessness which is that, by mid-2017, commercial hotels will only be used for emergency accommodation in very limited or exceptional circumstances. Accommodating family units in hotel arrangements is inappropriate for anything other than a short period of time. The use of hotels for emergency accommodation is a much more significant issue in the Dublin Region than it is in the rest of the country – almost 90% of homeless families are in the Dublin Region. It is intended to move the existing group of families out of these hotel arrangements as quickly as possible, and to limit the extent to which such accommodation has to be used for new presentations.
The increases in Rent Supplement and Housing Assistance Payment levels from 1 July 2016 is playing an important role in the achievement of this overall objective, in terms of supporting families to remain in rented accommodation. However, where families do find themselves in homelessness situations, their needs will be met through the enhanced Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) scheme, the Dublin Region homeless pilot of HAP, through general social housing allocations, as well as by tapping into wider housing supply under the various initiatives in Rebuilding Ireland.

Homeless - Rough Sleeping

The official Dublin Region rough sleeper count is conducted twice yearly (April and November) capturing the number of persons sleeping rough on a given night. The Dublin Regional Homeless Executive (DRHE) has confirmed that a minimum of 142 persons slept rough across the Dublin Region on the night of 22 November 2016, the date of the last official count.

Since the rough sleeper count, Dublin City Council has delivered 206 additional beds in four supported temporary accommodation facilities for homeless individuals, with some €6.1m in capital funding provided by DHPCLG. These beds are in the following locations:

- Ellis Quay (70 beds, managed by Peter McVerry Trust);
- Little Britain Street (65 beds, managed by De Paul Trust);
- Carman Hall, Francis Street (51 beds, jointly managed by Dublin Simon and Salvation Army); and
- Wolfe Tone Quay (20 beds, managed by Civil Defence).

These additional beds ensure that there is now sufficient bed-space for those recorded as sleeping rough, with some additional capacity to deal with short-term spikes in demand. Furthermore Dublin City Council has committed to bring forward two further facilities, by end March, with capacity for approximately 100 beds, to meet potential future increased demand; these facilities will cater for both individuals and couples.

810 additional Homeless households were supported by the DRHE operated scheme in 2016, exceeding the target of 550 tenancies to be created by Q4 2016, by 260 households.

The target for 2017 is 1,200 tenancies. DRHE has confirmed that it is on track to achieve 300 tenancies by the end of Q1 2017.
Action 1.3

Description of action: We will put in place ‘one-stop-shop’ assessment centres with multi-agency participation, making the best use of modern technology, for families presenting as homeless. This will include local authorities, Tenancy Protection Services, Tusla, Family Mediation Services, DSP and expert NGOs.

Objective: To assess and support families with children presenting as homeless to ensure every effort is made to keep them in their current homes or to ensure appropriate homeless and other support services are provided.

Timeline & Owner: Q4 2016, DRHE, LAs, TUSLA, Family Mediation Services, DSP, NGOs

Status: Complete

In order to remove the need for homeless families in the Dublin region to present to the Central Placement Service for their needs to be assessed, the four Dublin local authorities are providing the appropriate facilities and supports within their main and area offices. This includes private meeting rooms, with linkages to, and supports from, other State agencies and service providers so that every effort is made to keep prevent homelessness and to ensure that all necessary supports and services are provided to them.

Action 1.4

Description of action: We will continue to operate the Dublin Region protocol in relation to appropriate responses to child protection and welfare concerns among families in emergency accommodation and review its operation in December 2016, refining it as appropriate. The protocol arrangements will be extended nationally in 2017.

Objective: To support homeless families with child dependents and ensure that a robust referral procedure is in place.

Timeline & Owner: Q4 2016, DRHE Tusla

Status: On schedule

The joint protocol between Tusla and the DRHE has been fully operational since approval in June 2016. The protocol was reviewed and revised in December 2016 having regard to the experience of both agencies and feedback from homeless services. Arrangements for extending the protocol to other regions, including Galway, Cork and Limerick in particular, are already under consideration and this work will proceed on a phased basis across the country throughout 2017. The Tusla Homelessness Liaison Officer has already visited some of the leads in the homeless services across the country and will tailor the protocol to take account of local variations in terms of challenges and organisational arrangements.

Status: On schedule

Detailed progress under this action was reported in the First Quarterly Progress Report published on 1 November 2016. Further progress achieved during Q4 of 2016 includes the following:

- Enhanced family supports and local services: Mapping of local supports and resources available to families from each homeless service is progressing with a view to improving awareness and access to supports. Family Homeless Action Teams are being provided with this information resource as it develops, in order to inform service delivery, under the coordination of DRHE and Tusla.

- Access to early years services: DCYA and DRHE have been liaising to identify the resources to develop a workable initiative aimed at all homeless families accessing emergency accommodation. Simultaneously, a project involving Focus Ireland was launched in December, 2016 by the Minister for Children which aims to provide up to 25 hours of childcare over a five day week for children under 5 years old in a number of homeless service centres who are not currently accessing childcare.

- School Completion Programmes: Tusla has developed support materials for School Completion Programme staff working with homeless families.
Status continued

- Practical supports & nutritional needs: DCYA and the Department of Health are providing funding to Focus Ireland to commission a study on food access and nutritional health among families residing in hotel accommodation in the Dublin Region. The study is expected to be completed shortly. DRHE is liaising with a range of service providers, with a view to improving access to nutritional meals, community kitchens and meals on wheels, etc. DRHE met with service providers in December and is developing a programme of work for implementation in Q1 2017.

- Access to free public transport for family travel and school journeys: DRHE is overseeing arrangements for those homeless families in the Dublin region residing in hotel accommodation to allow access to free public transport, where required, for both family travel and for school journeys. Five separate 24-hour family Leap cards were made available to all homeless families in hotel accommodation in the Dublin region in 2016. Over 500 families availed of this support. The DRHE is finalising arrangements with the National Transport Authority for Leap cards specifically tailored for school journeys for those families in hotel accommodation that require them, and these will be made available in February.

DRHE & Tusla have developed a specific course on child protection, tailored to the needs of private emergency accommodation operators and their staff, in the Dublin region. This course clarifies roles and responsibilities in line with ‘Children First’. It has been run twice in December 2016 and will be provided again in Q1 2017. An e-learning module has also been developed and will be available in Q1 2017.

Child protection guidance forms part of the ‘Information & Guidelines for Service Users and Service Providers’ booklet, clarifying roles and responsibilities. This booklet has been printed and disseminated to operators of private emergency accommodation.

The ‘National Quality Standards Framework for Homeless Services’ which includes standards focusing on child protection roles and responsibilities, has been piloted in four of the nine homeless regions and will be fully implemented early in 2017.

Funding is in place under the Capital Assistance Scheme enabling AHBs to acquire residential units to accommodate young people exiting State care. Tusla and the DCYA are collaborating on the development of principles and criteria relating to funding proposals. Where accommodation is provided under CAS, Tusla will provide additional independent living supports, in particular for the most vulnerable Care Leavers, in accordance with the individual’s pre-agreed aftercare plan.

Tusla has also redistributed its protocol on young people leaving State care to Housing Authorities. The aim of this protocol is to ensure that the necessary measures are in place to prevent homelessness for young people leaving State care. This will be applied and considered within aftercare steering groups.

Tusla is currently reviewing its commissioning role in relation to all services.

DHPCLG issued policy and procedural guidance to local authorities in relation to assisting victims of domestic violence with emergency and long-term accommodation requirements. The guidance sets out a summary of best practice for local authorities in relation to their housing remit to ensure an effective and consistent housing response for victims of domestic violence.

The consortium will be dedicating additional staff in 2017 to deliver on the revised target of delivering 300 tenancies by the end of 2017.

The HSE provided additional funding in Q4 2016 to commission additional Intensive Case Managers (ICM) as part of Dublin’s Housing First service and staff team. These ICMs will support clients to maintain their tenancy and to achieve an optimum quality of life through developing plans, enhancing life skills, addressing health and mental health needs, engaging in meaningful activities and building recovery capital.

Budget 2017 confirmed additional funding for homeless services through the DHPCLG Vote, a portion of which will be utilised to support housing-led approaches nationally.

The Dublin housing authorities have completed their examination and analysis, and have confirmed that there is a relatively low number of refusals of offers of accommodation by households in emergency accommodation. Such concerns are addressed on a case-by-case basis between the households and the housing authorities.

Arrangements, including State funding, have been agreed between DHPCLG and Threshold to extend Threshold’s freephone Tenancy Protection Service nationwide from 2017 and this is now in place.

DSP, in conjunction with Threshold, operates the Tenancy Protection Service in the areas where supply issues are most acute covering Dublin, Cork, Meath, Kildare and Wicklow and Galway City. Over 2,500 rent supplement customers have received increased rental payments since 2014. In addition, 8,000 rent supplement households have been supported with increased rental payments made directly by DSP.

Increased maximum rent limits were introduced under the Rent Supplement and Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) schemes with effect from 1st July 2016. The number of increased rental payments for rent supplement customers has slowed considerably in the period following the introduction of the increased rent limits.

Following a consultation process held with key stakeholders, DHPCLG has undertaken a review of the MTR scheme. The Review puts forward a number of key actions. The Department will drive the implementation of these actions which are the responsibility of a range of bodies across Government, AHBs, local authorities and also across a range of lending institutions including both bank and non-bank entities.

In addition to the actions proposed in the Review, DHPCLG will undertake a financial appraisal of the structure of the MTR scheme in advance of the budgetary process for 2018. The MTR review will be published on the Rebuilding Ireland website.
Current Context

Pillar 2 is focussed in particular on the delivery of an additional 47,000 social housing homes through build, refurbishment and acquisition over the lifetime of Rebuilding Ireland – for which a budget of €5.35 billion for the period to 2021 is in place – and more generally on accelerating the delivery of social housing and other State-supported housing to the broad base of people who require housing supports.

The overall current and capital funding for housing in 2017 will be €1.3 billion, a 39% increase on the €933m provided for 2016. These homes are being delivered by local authorities and AHBs through a number of different mechanisms - construction, repair and renewal of existing housing (both public and private), regeneration of certain areas, acquisitions, as well as various leasing arrangements.

During 2016, over 18,300 households have had their social housing needs met under the range of social housing schemes, including the Housing Assistance Payment and Rental Accommodation Scheme, ahead of the target of just over 17,000 households set for the year. In 2017, it is planned to deliver social housing supports to at least 21,000 households.

The following is the breakdown of the delivery in 2016:

In terms of social housing construction, in particular, the pipeline is very positive. There is a significant construction programme of social housing underway, with approximately 1,500 new homes either completed or under construction at the end of 2016.

In 2017 this construction programme will further ramp up with over 2,000 new local authority homes to be under construction this year, with further delivery happening under the Rapid Build Programme and via AHBs and turnkey construction projects. A schedule of projects in the construction pipeline is being published in conjunction with this Progress Report.

An operational sub-group under the auspices of the Irish Refugee Protection Programme (IRPP) Taskforce, with representation from relevant Departments and Agencies, has been established to support the process of housing refugees and has met on a number of occasions.
Current Context

While the supply of housing is increasing as is the level of sites with planning permission, Pillar 3 seeks to accelerate that increase to make up the shortfall in supply, particularly of more affordable homes, as quickly as possible, to get to the national supply level of 25,000 new homes by 2021 or earlier, if possible.

There are 12 actions under Pillar 3, dealing with funding/financing infrastructure provision; active land management, planning reforms; construction design innovation and the construction sectors skills and capacity to deliver. The skills issue, in particular, becomes increasingly important as overall planning and construction activity increases and with this in mind DES and Solas are working to ramp up the delivery of skills training across a range of key areas.

The identification and prioritisation of 23 Major Urban Development Sites with the capacity to deliver 30,000 new homes in the medium term in the Greater Dublin Area, Cork, Limerick and Galway will see a significant scaling-up of new homes on key sites in main urban areas. Progress on these development sites is now being proactively overseen by the Department’s Housing Delivery Office with a view to ensuring these sites become exemplars for the coordination and accelerated delivery of plan-led housing development and active land management.

On the infrastructure front, 21 local authorities have applied for funding under the €200m Local Infrastructure Housing Activation Fund (LIHAF), seeking to open up more of the 17,434 hectares of land for development that the planning process has identified nationally for housing, 2,654 hectares of which are in Dublin. These applications which have identified 74 separate projects, where enabling infrastructure works are required, for consideration for funding are being assessed with a view to making funding decisions in March, 2017.

On the land supply side, relevant Government Departments, State bodies and local authorities have been contacted regarding lands in their ownership and/or control that may be suitable and available for housing development, in connection with the development of a national web-based database of State lands. To make progress quickly, the survey of State development lands is focussing on Dublin and the main cities and urban areas with a view to having the details mapped later in this Quarter, after which the approach will be extended to other regions.

The above actions, in tandem with the planning reforms provided for in the Planning and Development (Housing) and Residential Tenancies Act 2016, will help to ensure a steady supply of development land and planning permissions to build on that land, so that housing providers can plan ahead effectively in response to current and emerging demands.

In addition, effective from 1 October 2016, the HFA has reduced the interest rates charged on existing offerings and approved a range of new fixed rate lending products to support the funding of new social housing and infrastructure projects by AHBs and local authorities. The new range of products provides fixed interest rates, ranging from 5 to 30 years. LAs will be able to borrow fixed rate funding for 25 years at 1.5% or lower. The interest rate reduction will result in saving of €6m per annum on interest rate payments by LAs.

Through its engagement with both local authorities and private developers, ISIF has developed proposals to provide access to a new competitive infrastructure financing stream for housing developments.

Based on its proposals, ISIF is in advanced engagement in respect of specific infrastructure financing requirements. These initial projects would see ISIF investment of approximately €100m unlock residential development sites that could, in the medium term, support the construction of over 15,000 new residential units.

23 Major Urban Delivery Sites have been identified and announced at the Pillar 3 launch in November 2016. They are spread around the Country but focused on Dublin and Cork, as these are locations with the capability to deliver significant scaling up of new homes. Locations identified include Adamstown in West Dublin; Poolbeg SDZ in Dublin City, Cork Docklands and Midleton. It is estimated that the identified Major Urban Delivery Sites can deliver approximately 30,000 new homes over the medium term with a potential total of 60,000 new homes in the longer term.

Arrangements are in place, overseen by the Department’s Housing Delivery Office, to ensure these sites deliver significant housing as soon as possible and become exemplars for the coordination and accelerated delivery of plan-led housing development and active land management.

Detailed mapping of cities will be completed in Q1 2017. This mapping will inform the Development Land Supply Management Strategy elements of the NPF.

Building on the extensive preparatory research and engagement over the past 12 months to inform the NPF, a multi-stranded initial public consultation process to kick off discussions around key issues and policy choices to inform the NPF opened in early February 2017. Enabling provision for the introduction of e-planning (online submission of planning applications and appeals) was incorporated in the Planning and Development (Amendment) Bill 2016, published in January 2016. The Bill was not progressed as intended in 2016 - due to priority being given to the Planning and Development (Housing) and Residential Tenancies Bill 2016 – to give effect to certain urgent planning and housing related measures contained in Rebuilding Ireland.

It is now intended that the Planning and Development (Amendment) Bill 2016 will be enacted by Summer 2017. Notwithstanding this delay, in parallel with advancing the primary legislation, we will progress the preparation of planning regulations to give full effect to the introduction of e-planning by Q4 2017, as originally scheduled.

It has been necessary to identify a suitable site as an initial step in the competition process. This is now being done in collaboration with local authorities. The format of the competition has been approved, with a press statement issuing on the competition. The evaluation of proposed sites is currently underway. Following the identification of one or more suitable sites, a design brief will be developed by the relevant Local Authority and DHPCLG. It is intended that the competition will be managed by the RIAI and will be advertised for prospective design bids in Q2 2017.

3.12 SOLAS will update skills forecasts and work with stakeholders to ensure that mainstream and targeted education and training initiatives support the supply of skills required to deliver the Action Plan. To ensure that a supply of construction workers is available as the residential construction sector expands. From Q4 2016. DES

The current apprentice forecasts for the annual intake requirement in the construction related trades were completed in October 2016 and cover the period 2016-2020. The forecast for 2020 is for a total apprentice intake of 3,840 in these trades, compared to an intake of 1,713 in 2015 and an intake for the first 11 months of 2016 of 2,115 apprentices (equivalent 11-month figure for 2015 is 1,554).

In response to a number of priority areas for training identified by the CIF in discussion with SOLAS, arrangements are now in place for:

- Formwork courses that will produce 100 formworkers per year,
- Steel-fixing courses to begin in January 2017 which, subject to funding arrangements, will produce circa 100 steel-fixers per year, and
- Curtain-walling training to commence in Q2 2017 that will produce circa 50 curtain-wallers per year.
Current Context

Significant progress has been achieved in Pillar 4 during Quarter 4 with the major development being the publication of the Strategy for the Rental Sector. Informed by a comprehensive public consultation process, involving a stakeholder consultation workshop and written submissions, the Strategy contains a balanced mix of actions across the areas of security, supply, standards and services. The actions in the Strategy are now being incorporated into the overall Rebuilding Ireland governance and reporting structures.

The Planning and Development (Housing) and Residential Tenancies Act 2016 was signed into law on 23 December 2016. The Act allowed the Rent Predictability measures contained in the Strategy to be brought into immediate effect, capping rent rises in Dublin and Cork City to a maximum of 4% per annum and allowing for the expansion of the measure to other areas. Since then, a further 12 areas have been designated as RPZs, which now cover 54% of tenancies.

The Act contains a number of other measures to increase tenure security, including extending the duration of tenancies and protecting tenants in large developments from eviction when the owner wishes to sell multiple units at the same time. The Act also strengthens the RTB’s enforcement and dispute resolution powers and includes measures to increase its ability to provide services to landlords and tenants.

The review of the standards and regulations for rental accommodation has been completed and revised Housing (Standards of Rented Houses) Regulations 2017 have been made, coming into force on 1 July 2017.

An assessment of the potential for increasing student accommodation has been undertaken and has identified opportunities to deliver a further 8,105 bed spaces by 2019 and an additional 3,500 by 2024. A process for step-by-step monitoring of delivery has also been put in place. Work is ongoing between DES and DPER to identify financing mechanisms to facilitate investments by Institutes of Technology in on-campus student accommodation.

DHPCLG continues to advance the development of a comprehensive database of publicly-owned lands in key developable areas with a view to identifying land suitable for housing development as per Action 3.5 and to assess its potential for utilisation for housing and to support co-ordinated mixed-tenure development. This will also allow a clear assessment of what State lands can be earmarked for student accommodation.

It has been decided not to proceed with the Affordable Rental Scheme as originally conceived and outlined in the Rebuilding Ireland Action Plan. The development of the Strategy for the Rental Sector allowed for further consideration of this matter, in consultation with local authorities and stakeholders, and it has been decided that Affordable Rental is to be taken forward on a project-by-project basis on local authority lands, where feasible. Lands held by local authorities in Rent Pressure Zones will be brought to the market on a competitive tendering basis, with a view to leveraging the value of the land to deliver the maximum number of units for rental, targeting middle income private rental households. In Quarter 1 2017, a number of sites will be identified and calls for proposals, incorporating the provision of Affordable Rental units, will be issued by the relevant Local Authorities.

On 13 December 2016, Government approved the publication of the Strategy for the Rental Sector. The strategy is structured around 4 key areas: security, standards, supply and services. The measures under these four headings will be implemented through the 29 actions contained in the strategy.

The overarching objective of the Strategy is to increase supply and support the development of a stable, strong and viable rental sector offering true choice for households, investment opportunities for providers and reflecting the rights and responsibilities of tenants and landlords.

Status: Complete

The Planning and Development (Housing) and Residential Tenancies Act 2017 was signed by the President on 23rd December 2016. The Act includes measures to prevent a future recurrence of situations where large numbers of residents in a single development are simultaneously served with termination notices to facilitate vacant possession and sale of the property. In this regard, the Act provides that, where a landlord proposes to sell 10 or more units in a development at the same time (i.e. classified as being within a 6-month period), the sales will be conditional on the existing tenants remaining in situ, other than in exceptional circumstances. In addition, the Act also provides for the abolition of a landlord’s right, during the first 6 months of a further Part 4 tenancy, to terminate that tenancy for no stated ground. These provisions of the act were commenced on 17 January 2017.
These measures are accompanied by a number of other early actions to enhance the Residential Tenancies Board’s (RTB) enforcement and dispute resolution powers. These include faster processing of determination orders, the reduction in period for appeal to Tribunals, and the use of one-person Tribunals. All of these measures will mean that the RTB can handle more disputes and finalise them more quickly. Tenants and landlords alike will therefore see a number of improvements as a result of these legislative changes, which will be subject to Commencement Orders to be made in Q3 of 2017.

Status: Complete (Alternative approach in place)
This action was originally scheduled for delivery in Q3 2016 but was incomplete at that time.

As set out in the recently published Strategy for the Rental Sector, this commitment is to be progressed through kick-starting supply in Rent Pressure Zones using publicly-owned land to leverage land value for the delivery of the maximum number of rental units targeting middle income households. Lands held by local authorities in RPZs will be brought to market on a competitive tendering basis with a view to this.

The cost of providing rental units will be permanently reduced by lowering the initial investment and development costs for providers - AHB or private - allowing the rental units to be made available at prices below current market prices without the need for ongoing rental subsidies.

Local authorities concerned will identify a number of sites in Q1 2017 with the potential for up to 1,000 units of accommodation and will move forward, as soon as possible, to issue calls for proposals from parties interested in developing rental accommodation for middle income households. As speed of delivery will be critically important, appropriate licence arrangements, incorporating clear timescales for delivery, will be a key feature of the process.

This programme will be co-ordinated with the dedicated measures in Rebuilding Ireland to accelerate housing output from the Major Urban Housing Delivery Sites, including support from the Local Infrastructure Housing Activation Fund (LIHAF) where necessary. Possible project locations include O’Devaney Gardens and Oscar Traynor Road in Dublin. In tandem, new-build rental accommodation will also be provided in the major build-to-rent projects planned for strategic development zones and other large sites in Dublin and other locations, such as Cherrywood in Dún Laoghaire Rathdown County Council area.

The Planning and Development (Housing) and Residential Tenancies Act 2016 makes provision for a new rent predictability measure, based on the concept of Rent Pressure Zones (RPZs). An area where annual rent increases have been at 7% or more in four of the last six quarters and where the rent levels are already above the national average may be designated as an RPZ.

Rent increases in an RPZ will be capped at 4% per annum for a period of 3 years by which time it is anticipated that new supply will have come on stream and pressures will have eased somewhat in these areas. The four Dublin Local Authority areas and Cork city were designated as RPZs with immediate effect on 23 December 2016. Ministerial orders designating 12 further local electoral areas in counties Cork, Kildare, Meath, Wicklow and in Galway city as RPZs were made on 26 January 2017. This means that Cork, Dublin and Galway cities and a further 23 towns are now designated as RPZs.

An Bord Pleanála in a recent case determined that the exclusive use of a residential apartment for short-term holiday lettings represented a material change of use requiring planning permission. The Department has, by way of Circular letter PL12/2016 of 22 December 2016, brought this determination to the attention of all planning authorities who are now aware of the grounds on which the ABP reached its decision, the planning requirements relevant to the commercial use of residential units and the importance of a proactive approach to planning enforcement generally in this regard. The Circular letter is available on the Department’s website at the following weblink:

With a view to providing full legal clarity regarding the appropriate regulatory approach to be adopted by relevant statutory authorities in relation to short-term tourism-related lettings, and as provided in the Rental Strategy published in December 2017 under Rebuilding Ireland, the Department intends to establish a working group comprising representatives of relevant stakeholders including local authorities, relevant Departments, public bodies and other interests in the area to consider the disparate issues involved and to report by summer 2017.
PILLAR FIVE

Utilise Existing Housing

Current Context

A certain level of vacant properties is normal in a healthy housing market with houses often being temporarily vacant between tenancies (in both the private and public sectors) and when being renovated. However, long-term vacant housing can have negative impacts on local areas and communities and represents an inefficient use of valuable economic resources.

Preliminary results from Census 2016 indicate that there are just under 200,000 dwellings nationwide (excluding holiday homes and derelict houses) which were recorded as vacant. This represents 9.8% of the overall national housing stock. By way of comparison, the Netherlands (which has 4 times the population of Ireland) has a similar number of vacant homes, representing 2.5% of the national housing stock.

Pillar 5 of Rebuilding Ireland is focussed on Utilising Existing Housing Stock with a key objective of ensuring that the existing vacant housing stock is used to the maximum degree possible. The disproportionately large volume of vacant houses currently in Ireland represents a source of accommodation supply which, if refurbished and reutilised, has the potential to make a significant contribution to resolving the housing supply shortage situation while simultaneously breathing new life into the cities, towns and villages in which they are located. Furthermore, compared to new build, increased utilisation of vacant housing stock can be a significantly more cost-effective means of increasing housing supply across all forms of tenure – social, private and private rental – while also typically having the further advantage of being served by existing infrastructure.

Two significant measures have already been announced under Pillar 5 to incentivise increased use of vacant housing – (i) the Repair and Leasing Initiative, with funding of €140m over the next 5 years and which is being initially piloted in Carlow and Waterford with a view to subsequent national roll-out, has been launched to assist private property owners and local authorities or Approved Housing Bodies to bring vacant houses into social housing use for families or individuals on local authority waiting lists, and (ii) the Buy and Renew Initiative, with dedicated funding of €25m in 2017, to support local authorities and Approved Housing Bodies in purchasing private housing units in need of repair, in having them refurbished, and ultimately in making them available for social housing use.

A central element of Pillar 5 will be the development of a National Vacant Housing Reuse Strategy to provide a targeted, effective and co-ordinated approach to tackle the problem of vacant homes in Ireland and to help achieve the optimum occupancy of the existing housing stock. Work on the development of the strategy is progressing well. This will be supplemented by a range of other measures including the development of new urban renewal measures to complement the existing regeneration programme and projects under the Social Housing Capital Programme, as well as the Town and Village Renewal Scheme. It is envisaged that Pillar 5 will be launched in March 2017 with the launch also being used to publish the National Vacant Houses Reuse Strategy and to announce the new Urban Renewal Scheme.

The approach to the refurbishment and re-letting of vacant social housing units (voids) has been reviewed to ensure a consistent national approach to the management of these units to ensure a swift turnaround. The rental standards were reviewed in late 2016 and the revised standards now provide the context for common national re-letting performance standards across all local authorities. A circular has issued to all Housing Authorities setting out the revised arrangements.

Under this initiative, owners of suitable properties are assisted with the financial costs of necessary repairs which are then offset against the lease income on the property over a defined period of between 10 and 20 years.

The pilot Repair and Leasing Scheme (RLS) was launched in Waterford and Carlow on October 6th 2016. The pilot is progressing well at a local level. Waterford and Carlow have been advertising the scheme with local media and have made good progress in engagements with property owners. Inspections of potential units have also commenced and both LAs are ready to commence signing agreements with a number of property owners.

It is intended that the scheme will be expanded to all Local Authorities in early 2017. Approved Housing Bodies (AHBs) will play a key role in the implementation of the scheme, working directly with local authorities around the country.

3,500 houses have been targeted for social housing using the scheme over the period 2017-2021. A budget of €140m has been provided to support this activity. While the current target for 2017 is 150 units, the interest expressed by property owners so far indicates that the 2017 target will be achieved and most likely exceeded. Depending on the capacity of local authorities and AHBs to deliver under the scheme, as well as the necessary agreement on the financial considerations arising, a revised delivery profile which will see earlier delivery of a higher number of properties is possible.

In parallel, the Department is working with other local authorities to prepare for the rollout of the new scheme in their areas. This includes assisting with access to public sources of data relating to vacant property, as well as facilitating local cooperation between AHBs and LAs on how the scheme will operate on the ground for interested property owners. A schedule for the rollout of the scheme across all local authorities is being prepared on that basis and will be made available shortly.

The review of planning legislation to allow the change of use of vacant commercial premises into residential use without having to go through the planning process – effectively classifying it as exempted development for planning permission purposes – has not been progressed as intended, due to the priority attached to the enactment of the Planning and Development (Housing) and Residential Tenancies Act 2016 in Q4 2016. The revised timeline for delivery of this action is now Q2 2017.

A review of the Living City Initiative (LCI) was completed and published as part of Budget 2017. The LCI has been amended to further enhance its attractiveness and effectiveness, in line with its policy aims by extending eligibility to landlords in respect of rented residential property, removing the restriction on the maximum floor area for owner-occupiers, and removing the requirement for a pre-1915 building to have been originally used as a dwelling in order to qualify for the residential element of the initiative.

A Working Group, chaired by the Minister of State for Housing and Urban Renewal, Mr Damien English TD, has been established and aims to bring forward proposals for renewal/regeneration of cities, towns and villages across Ireland. It has met three times, and aims to bring forward its proposals for funding in the first Quarter of 2017.

A revamped RAPID programme is being designed at present and is due to be rolled out early in 2017. The programme will provide small-scale seed financing for capital and small-scale infrastructure projects of a regenerative nature in disadvantaged areas, including in provincial towns.

It is intended that the measures proposed by the Urban Renewal Working Group will be complementary to, and integrated with, relevant actions in the Action Plan on Rural Development as launched in January 2017 by the Minister for Arts, Heritage, Regional, Rural and Gaeltacht Affairs, Ms Heather Humphreys TD.
Status: Complete
The Town & Village Renewal Scheme was launched by the Minister for Arts, Heritage, Regional, Rural and Gaeltacht Affairs on 9th August 2016, with funding of €10 million for 2016. Local Authorities were invited to submit up to 8 funding proposals in respect of each county by the end of September, 2016.

Following an assessment of the applications received, 172 towns and villages throughout the country were approved for funding in November 2016.

An increased allocation of €12 million has been provided for the Town and Village Renewal Scheme for 2017. The Minister for Arts, Heritage, Regional, Rural and Gaeltacht Affairs has announced her intention to run a pilot under the scheme in 2017 to encourage increased residential occupancy in town and village centres. DAHRGGA and DHPCLG will work together on advancing this proposal in 2017.

LOOKING FORWARD – THE NEXT QUARTER

The following are some of the key actions across the five Pillars that will progress significantly in the first quarter of 2017.

Pillar 1: Address Homelessness

Housing Provision and Homelessness Prevention
The main areas of activity here will be the continued roll out of the Homeless HAP scheme in Dublin, the operational advancement of the Housing Agency initiative to acquire 1,600 vacant housing units, tenancy protection measures and the planned provision of two additional temporary emergency accommodation facilities.

Abhaile Media Campaign
Mortgage arrears, personal insolvency and the risk of losing their home continues to be a pressing reality for many households. Supports, such as the Abhaile – Free Mortgage Arrears Support Service are available to help with independent expert legal and financial advice. Abhaile will begin a National awareness campaign on radio, print and digital media later this month with a view to targeting and supporting families and individuals at risk of losing their home.

Pillar 2: Accelerate Social Housing

HAP roll out to Dublin region
The introduction of HAP is transforming the delivery of social housing services by bringing together the social housing services provided by the State under the single umbrella of the local government system while removing barriers to employment by allowing households to continue to receive HAP support even if their income rises or they gain full-time employment. Preparations are underway to introduce HAP to the remaining three Dublin authorities from 1 March 2017. This will complete the full roll-out of the scheme and significantly increase the numbers of households who benefit from this key housing support.

Housing Agency Acquisitions
Dedicated exchequer funding of €70 million in 2017 is now in place to allow the Housing Agency expand its acquisitions programme with the aim of acquiring 1,600 vacant housing units in total by end 2020. The Housing Agency has been actively and positively engaged with banks and investment funds in relation to this acquisitions programme in recent months and is in a position to acquire a significant number of properties during the first quarter of 2017, thus providing further impetus to the delivery of additional social housing.
Pillar 3: Build More Homes

Consultation on National Planning Framework
On 2 February 2017 a comprehensive consultation process was launched on the development of the new National Planning Framework, which will culminate in a 20 year strategy for the spatial development of Ireland. The development of a Land Supply Management Strategy, is a critical component of the NPF, and will be central to ensuring that housing development is properly aligned with current and emerging social and economic needs and will be supported by an effective planning system and by appropriate investment in infrastructure over time. The strategic importance of this work cannot be overstated as it represents a necessary and vital first step to charting the critical pathway towards effective and sustainable housing delivery over the next two decades.

Local Infrastructure Housing Activation Fund
Funding decisions on projects approved for LIHAF funding will be announced in March 2017, paving the way for significant enabling infrastructure works on key strategic sites around our major urban areas, involving privately owned and mixed tenure developments to begin as planned in 2017.

Pillar 4: Improve the Rental Sector

Broader role of RTB
The Strategy for the Rental Sector will see the Residential Tenancies Board take on a broader role in delivering day-to-day services that meet the needs of both tenants and landlords. Improved enforcement of Determination Orders which will reduce losses to compliant landlords and tenants, and one-stop-shop information services for tenants and landlords will provide early practical demonstrations of its emerging role during Q1 2017.

Pillar 5: Utilise Existing Housing

National Vacant Housing Re-use Strategy
The Housing Agency is preparing a draft National Vacant Housing Re-Use Strategy, in collaboration with relevant stakeholders and taking account of international good practice and experience. The strategy will provide clarity on the extent of vacant units and help inform policy measures to incentivise bringing available vacant stock into use for social and private housing.

Unfinished Housing Development Survey
A new survey of unfinished housing developments has been undertaken and the results are currently being finalised. The survey will be published during Q1 2017 and will support efforts to align social housing investment towards strategic acquisition opportunities.
